

UNE COM Osteopathic Medical Student Attendance Policy

The University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine creates a variety of venues to support high quality learning and teaching, which the attendance policy strives to support by honoring students' varied learning styles and by allowing faculty and course directors to maintain the integrity of the curriculum.

Working in conjunction with the teaching faculty of a course, the course director(s) will specify which educational sessions are mandatory and which are optional and post this information in the student calendar well in advance of the session.

Mandatory and optional educational sessions may or may not be recorded and posted; this will be decided at the discretion of the presenting faculty member.

The UNE COM Osteopathic Medical School Attendance Policy was reviewed by the COM CAC Administrative Curricular Policy Sub-Committee on June 5, 2017 and was approved at the COM CAC on June 14, 2017.
