IPEC Library & Lunch event on February 20, 2013

"Evidence-Based Practice and the Library: Finding and Applying the Best Evidence"

UNE Librarians discussed the services and resources available to students, faculty and clinical affiliates in support of interdisciplinary EBP. A medical librarian, along with an interprofessional panel of practicing clinicians, presented their insights into the implementation of EBP in the healthcare setting. The event was held in the WCHP Lecture Hall, and video streamed to an overflow room as well as to the Biddeford Campus. About 150 students, staff and faculty attended.

College of Pharmacy Faculty Development event on March 7, 2013

"Open Access Publications"

At the invitation of faculty, UNE Librarians presented information on the Open Access movement for the College of Pharmacy. The session addressed the growing trends in OA publishing and offered suggestions on how to evaluate the quality of OA publications. The event was held in the Hannaford Lecture Hall and was recorded for archiving on the College's faculty development website.

11th Annual Interprofessional Spring Symposium on April 4, 2013

"The Science of Pain and the Art of Healing"

UNE Librarians helped plan and implement the Symposium, and contributed to the event in several ways. The Special Collections Department set up an exhibit in the lobby of Alfond Forum called Portraits of Pain, and also offered two break-out sessions on patient narratives. Books, films, journal articles, and websites related to the topic were collected and on display at the forum, and a glossy double-sided Library handout was distributed to the nearly 1,000 students and faculty who attended the Symposium. The handout included a link to the full resource list available online: https://docs.google.com/a/une.edu/document/d/1G-zLAFeUhjeG_AUQet5ZkkRGiV-qwmEjuO9eFHgAazg/edit#.
