COP Faculty Development
Preceptor Adventures:
Finding Ways to Balance it All

Speaker:
Craig D. Cox, PharmD, FCCP, BCPS
Associate Professor, Pharmacy Practice
Vice Chair, Experiential Programs
Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center
School of Pharmacy

0.4 CEUs

Learning Objectives:
After attending this program participants will be able to:
1. Analyze the impact the relationship between students, preceptors, and their learning environments have on the quality of experiential learning
2. Discover innovative methods to provide learning opportunities to students when preceptor’s time is limited
3. Determine the most appropriate teaching strategies to utilize when given an experiential learning scenario
4. Solve challenging preceptor and student scenarios focused on common issues faced in the experiential learning environment
5. Discuss ways to strike balance between experiential/didactic teaching, service, practice, scholarship, and family responsibilities as a clinical faculty member

Thursday, April 2nd
@ 12:00 - 4:00 pm
Lunch will be provided

Portland Harbor Hotel
468 Fore Street, Portland, ME
Ambassador Room
(enter parking garage for valet parking)

Balancing experiential and didactic responsibilities as well as scholarly activities can be challenging. Dr. Cox will provide pearls for the novice or most seasoned faculty member, for continued success in academia.

Dr. Cox received his PharmD from Washington State University. He completed his critical care residency at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Pharmacy. His expertise in Adult Medicine and didactic teaching has awarded him 'Outstanding Teacher of the Year', almost yearly for the past 15 years.

ACPE # 0837-0000-15-028-L04-P

University of New England College of Pharmacy is accredited by the Accreditation Council of Pharmacy Education as a provider of Continuing Pharmacy Education